Windsor

Offered to the market with no onward chain, this five bedroom semi detached house presents an appealing opportunity for buyers seeking a spacious home in a highly sought after location.

With a flexible layout and the added benefit of a study that could be used as a sixth bedroom, the property is well suited to a range of households, including growing families, those working from home and buyers who require additional space for guests.

The accommodation offers versatility, allowing the rooms to be arranged to suit individual needs and changing circumstances. Five bedrooms provide options for family living, while the additional study or sixth bedroom offers further flexibility as a home office, guest room or dedicated space for hobbies. A bathroom and separate cloakroom add to the practicality of the home, helping to accommodate the demands of a busy household.

The property is positioned within walking distance of schools, making it a particularly attractive choice for families who value convenient access to education. In addition, you can enjoy a short walk to Windsor's historic town center and multiple railway stations. Its sought after setting adds to the appeal, offering buyers the opportunity to secure a substantial home in a desirable location.
